The international mobility activities have a duration of 30 days (student target) and 90 days (recent graduate target) and will be carried out in Malta, Spain and Portugal.

The project, promoted in the framework of the VET Accreditation 2021-2027, foresees the achievement of the following objectives.

1) PROFESSIONALIZING: improve technical-sectoral linguistic skills; develop skills and competences in the management of hospitality services and in the promotion of evolutionary tourism products in green and digital key, in order to access the professions required by the tourism and hotel industry more easily and quickly; develop greater awareness of one's potential and cognitive abilities in order to be able to independently and effectively face professional choices aimed at facilitating immediate entry into the world of work;

2) EDUCATIONAL: be motivated and re-motivated to successfully complete one's studies; integrate the technical skills acquired during the school career with internship experiences at European companies specialized in one's field of study; improve mathematical-logical and scientific skills through educational-training comparison in the company;

3) PERSONALIZED (participants with fewer opportunities):

learn through access to different ways of practical learning; develop an approach that is open to being guided and corrected to successfully deal with changes and variables; develop self-control and self-assessment of one's learning processes; acquire skills aimed at promoting autonomy and self-confidence.

To achieve these objectives, selected companies and organizations in the tourism, hotel and catering sectors of the three host European countries will be involved, where participants will carry out technical-practical activities in line with their profile/curriculum, personal and professional expectations and specific skill requirements of the local/regional production and service sectors.
